
Food Forestry: Being Human Again

Turning Earth into a Food Forest

Time: 2-4 hours | Reward: 33 $ReGen + 1 RVoice

Deliverable:

A short video and/or written article

The Story

When we do the Food Forestry quest after the Potions quest, we hold fruit seeds in our mouths for several minutes before planting them. The saliva that now coats those seeds carries a vastly richer diversity of microbial life than it did before. We are literally seeding the Earth with the expanded ecosystem of our own body. Our DNA, our biology, our relationship to the land - encoded in every seed we plant.

Step by Step

Step 1: Gather Your Crew

Invite friends, family, or community members to join you on this adventure.

Step 2: Source Your Seeds and Seedlings

Collect fruit tree seeds or small seedlings. Consider native species and what grows well in your area.

Step 3: Scout Locations

Find suitable public spaces, parks, or forest edges where trees can thrive without being disturbed.

Step 4: Plant with Intention

Plant your seeds and seedlings with care. Consider soil conditions, water access, and sunlight.

Step 5: Document and Share

Record your adventure - what you planted, where, and the joy of being human again.

Step 6: Submit Your Story

Share your video or article with the community. Include what you learned and insights gained.

Tips

- This quest can be done infinite times!
 - Choose species that will thrive without maintenance
 - Make it a celebration - bring snacks, music, joy
 - Mark locations so you can return and check on your trees
